Pig Pen

@ The William IV, West Horlsey

13/08/2019

Megabit had a plumbing emergency so couldn't make it, not sure what emergency can be above joining a hash for an evening but hopefully it will not require colonic irrigation. Kebab (camelarse) & tight git arrived early and had a wonderful chat in the wrong car park and so engrossed were they that only by 8:15 did they realise the error of their ways. They then preceded to cut out the difficult bit and head straight to the pub and sheepishly sip coffee. Shortly afterwards they were joined by Jezza as their guest friend (does hash membership expire after a few years ?) Tracy was back from holiday looking all tanned and lovely Kerry was back from holiday looking all tanned and lovely and also tried to style out a fall without much success Oregano was carried back by the hash cash and presented it to Spanish mistress , who knows why. The pub was nice and the fireplace seemed to have been built in 1685. It also has nice beer but not a lot of evidence of any after run chips . The run was allegedly very good, no one got lost, trampled on by cows/horses/cars/motorcycles/lorries/farmers/naked ladies [got carried away there]

Darkness fell upon the end of the run- something we haven't experienced for a quite a while
The hare expertly kept the pack together and ended bang on time . Hash cash also got very excited later on when he realised that Lord Tosser of Weybridge was around and could then sign a cheque for monies owed from the AGM. If only hash cash had remembered to bring the wh3 chequebook along to the pub.
The Old folks were drinking Surrey hills on a separate table and room to the wh3 youngsters. Is there a split forming in the camp I ask? Well apart from Tight git & Kebab the rest should be fined for not bringing a friend along to the illustrious Weybridge hash house harriers bring a friend week. Not even Grandmistress who's idea it all was brought a newbie. Tight git was so keen to get the right car park for next weeks run (he had failed twice in a row) that it completely slipped his mind that he is on holiday.

If any of this run report make any sense to you then you can do it next week.

Pussy Galore & Legover

@ The Nags Head, Woking

20/08/2019

So off to the Nags Head at Bisley. I last ran from here two weeks ago with GH3, so how would tonight's offering from Pussy Galore & Legover compare?

By 5 minutes to 8.00 an elite pack consisting of Pig Pen, Kung Foo Panda, Pig Pen, Kebab, The Great bear and Wurzel had assembled, with no sign of the hares. Concern mounted that, in view of Kebabs recent record, we were in the wrong car park but these were dissipated when an initial scout round found flour. The quality of the pack was strengthened by the last minute arrival of Tosser, Master Bates and Sausage whos last minute high speed arrival scattered the pack. Thus strengthened the pack set off but with still no sign of the hares.

Runs in this area tend to be constrained by the presence of the canal and the urban areas but although our hares made use of these they made excellent use of the available countryside and kept the pack guessing and the FRBs in check, especially as there were only 6 active checkers and at times 6 routes to check out. About 1/3 of the way round the pack was joined by Legover and eventually by Pussy Galore. The rumour was that after they had laid the trail they had retreated to the pub (without being noticed by the pack) and had finished eating before catching up with us. The pack arrived back at the pub after about 70 minutes and covering a distance of 4.4 miles a good achievement in view of the size of the pack even with some eventual assistance from the hares.

And so back to my original question, how did the trail compare with the Guildford trail. Well I have to say this was the better one don't I ☺

No local history this week but the following should be noted

- Brian didn't fall over
- The pack enjoyed the humping on the way in from the last check
- Brian enjoyed being swept up by the hares towards the end of the trail.
- There is a risk of KHV (Koi Herpes Virus) being spread to the fish in the canal and to avoid its spread all tackle needs to be dried before use (for Wazzers interest/ benefit I have worked with this virus alongside Blue Tongue and swine Flue etc.).

In the pub

- The barman had a badly cut hand resulting from an argument with a beer glass (apparently he still had some stuck in his hand but was still working as he had no cover (where are the hash medics when you need them??)).
- Plenty of both chunky and slim chips along with garlic mayonnaise (it had some "posh" name but I cannot remember what it was!).
- Len joined us having for once failed to find the start of the trail!

On-on Wurzel

PS Please let the committee know your views on the quality of these notes so I don't get volunteered to do them again.....

1843The Great Bear*@ The Stephen Langton, Abinger Common*27/08/2019

Well, if you wanted to find peace and tranquillity this is the place, you could hear the wings of a bird flapping! Just not when WH3 is here though. Welcome guests tonight were Fish & Chips, good to see you Anna, and also Popeye from Surrey Hash, nice to see you back again. Off we went, beneath a near constant canopy of trees, some pretty cottages en route, but your mobile won't work here. A certain someone was collecting branches for the fire. We had Great Bear setting this one, and helping us all the way too, super route all up hill and down dale, thigh muscles working overtime tonight ! Torches needed, dark very quick tonight, so remember to charge yours, and put it in the car next Monday night. Top Man & Naked Chef back from hols in America, San Diego, sounds lovely. Lord Tosser, Wasser and Master Bates, know a good run, here to check it out for us. A humid night, following the hottest August Bank Holiday in England ever, the night before. We earned our pints tonight, and some. We drove back to The Stefan Langton Inn to sup up. A country pub restaurant serving British Cuisine and Cask Ales, is in a beautiful location. If you cannot relax here, you are in trouble. Pig Pen & Kebab were expounding their views on what makes a good Run ? The Route, the Pub, the Beer and the Extras.....oh yeah !!! Dingaling piped up just at that point, to try and establish some basic facts of life, whoops. We will have to continue this conversation, when you join us next week in Chessington, but perhaps not on The Vampire Ride, as Dingaling found out quite recently. Note, bring your torches ! On On

1844Tosser*@ The William Bourne, Chessington*03/09/2019

Nice sprawling pub, on the banks of the Hogsmill river bordering the roads leading towards Ewell. As usual lately, Lord Tosser conjured up another cracker. A five miler, roaring around Horton Country Park, a local Nature Reserve and Golf Club grounds, we had beautiful views in all directions. Did not know you could make it this interesting in Chessington, but ...good golly he did. The Park has many wildlife treasures, such as Bluebell Woods, and Green Woodpeckers. This would have been part of an Ancient Wild Wood, a thousand years ago. Tonight had started in the car park with much amusement, as Master Bates, reversed his Merc into space, right in front of the Advertising Hoardings offering 'FREE ERECTION' and a 'GOOD LAY' !!! Aye Aye, bottoms up, and off we went. Legover and Pussy Galore were out running again, following their own run in Knaphill a couple of weeks back. Kebab, Pig Pen, Top Man & Naked Chef here as always. Tight Git Giles also, as he lives nearby. Spanish Mistress & Sodden Assets back from their French trip, looking well. Doner & Jack Russell, and Megabit too. Ard'On Provocateur selling his runner beans to Wasser, all the money to charity ! The pub was good, lots of room, chairs and good quality cheap beer, with friendly staff on hand. Dingaling happened to mention, he had been leapt upon by a big dog at lunchtime, and quick as a whippet, Pig Pen said ' Was the dog alright ? ' Autumn has started, as of 1 September, so the dark is roaming in, torches ready folks. Another great night out with Weybridge Hash ! See you all next week !
