Ruth and Alan

@ The Kingfisher, Chertsey

07/01/2014

The first run of the 2014 started wet. So wet Noah was on hand with some advice. A hardy bunch set off from the pub not knowing if we would make it back to see our cars floating away. The trail took us on a twisting journey through historic Chertsey and avoiding any raging torrents of water. It teased us as we ran past a number of pubs and restaurants that all looked rather inviting as the rain continued to fall. Down the High Street and past St Anns School carrying on towards The Meads. Soon the On Inn was insight. With the water level rising and a number of hashers unable to get through the flooded roads it was decided to decamp to newly refurbished Crown for a fine pint of Youngs and lots of lovely cake provided by Ruth and Alan

Rupert

@ The Castle, Ottershaw

14/01/2014

The Hash did fall on the Castle walls
And muddy summits old in story:
The long trail snaked to the flooded field,
And the wild torch lights leapt in glory.
Shout, hasher, shout, set this wild pack flying,
Shout, hasher, shout, as through the woods the echoes dying

O hark, O hear! how clear the cries,
The trail, clearer, and farther going !
O sweet and far from Ottershaw
Past Harvester smokers faintly blowing!
Shout, hasher, shout, let us hear the front runners mumbling,
Shout, hasher, shout, and see, cross nursery fields, the hounds a-stumbling.

O pure rain, that fell from yon rich sky,
That fell 'pon hill or field or river:
That has become that bloody muddy path,
That made my shoes stink for ever and for ever.
Shout, hasher, shout, good ale and scrumptious chips a-frying,
And answer, fine hare, fine trail and some inner-soles dying.

Daffy

@ Oxshott Sports Club

21/01/2014

A healthy pack set off for this one, through the woods, rain accompanying all concerned as it has always lately. A Cheam denzien stomping around Oxshott Heath laying a trail in All Up Front's home ground. What's that got to do with anything, you may ask, strange things are always happening in Hashing. True, and of course, nobody could care anyway. Just so long as it was a circular trail that got us back in good time for the haggis, that's all that mattered. And so it was. No way was Little Bear going to allow Daffy to set one of his marathons. A nice trail across the heath, over Sandy Lane for an extension around Fairmile and back. The rain held off and, remarkably, the ground was solid, mostly anyway, because of the sandy soil Our host, Daffy, was all rigged out in his traditional garb, orange wig, tartan skirt, and not much else according to Little Bear's surprised yelp..... when we were sat in the bar afterwards, tucking into the chef's delicious haggis, neeps and mashed tatties. Certain hungry bunnies went racing up for seconds...ooh err..Great to see Top Man back with us tonight, Pig Pen too, and Worzel, Stuart and Dad Neil were also in attendance. Tosser, back from his hols, good to see you as always, Malcolm too, always ready with their sharp witticisms. Molesey Matt very kindly provided Ding a Ling with a brand new highly dazzling torch all the way from China for him to use next week, when his knee may have recovered from injury on his Birthday (Ed, 21 again??) ! A very jolly chatty night was had by all, so do not miss this foodie extravaganza next January.....delicious ! On On Make sure you help Louise out with some great Runs in the Spring, March onwards please !

1553 Tight Git @ The Famous Green Man, Ewell 28/01/2014

This nice little village now besieged by roadworks and traffic lights sadly, also welcomed the rains yet again. Our intrepid Weybridge Hashers are wilting a bit, no 25 runners this week just the SIX, yes that's right, very rare. Alan & Ruth, Simon, Giles, Matt, and Louise met up for this one. Much checking was done, Nonsuch Park could not be utilised as is normal and Len and Dingaling (Injured) met everyone in the bar afterwards, where they thawed out with a beer or so. Everyone is keen for the Spring to come, quickly. Giles's wife, Louise very kindly laid on delicious hot food before the On In. THANK YOU!

1554 Worzel @ The Bird in Hand, Mayford 04/02/2014

The skies were clearish, with big white billowy clouds as we all set off, a good pack, keen for some running tonight. Worzel, is a very experienced Hare, and we were given a great trail to find and follow, back and forth, through Heathland and Woodlands and of course, a lot of shiggy, customary for Worz, and after all that rain, for two months. We all got on with it, keen to run, and a great route it was, no one was suspended up trees but Wasser was not a happy bunny.....he does not like the mud on his trainers. The heavens finally opened as we neared the finish, and poor Tosser got the worst of it, as he walked into the bar later, much later, dripping from head to foot, and none too pleased with Worzel's shortcut which, he and Wasser wrongly misinterpreted, and hence, were lost in the woods. The lady behind the bar, was keen to satisfy our thirst quenching demands, and fortunately no further!! A good pack for this run, Mark and Spanish Mistress, Neil, Top Man, Tracy, Louise and Calamity all here. Make sure YOU turn up soon.....and even Dingaling managed to get round with his dodgy knee...hurrah !
