1791	Spanish Mistress & Sodden Assets	@ The Wootton Hatch, Wootton	21/08/2018
A smaller than usual crowd of keen runners gathered in the car park along with two welcome visitors (who's names I have forgotten in the midst of time, although a reference to 'Pussy' does for some reason come to mind!). We suspect that a number of our usual group were off sunning themselves in glamorous locations such as the south of France, Thailand and Devon! The Hares, Spanish Mistress and Sodden Assets, led us round a challenging, well thought out and clever trail with plenty of paths which had to be checked out. The Wotton Hatch lies on the south side of a small valley just outside Dorking which looks north towards the slopes of Ranmore Common and the thought of a leisurely run over flat terrain was soon dispelled! We headed out the carpark and the climbing began as we headed south towards Abinger Common before deviating northwards back through wooded paths and fields gently sloping down towards the A25. Once over the A25, splendid views of the valley opened up along with a sound track of an exuberant Owl telling us to bugger off as we were on his patch and he was busy hunting. Then the real ascent began! Rising almost vertically, the trail led us all up hill on the opposite side of the valley to where we started to reveal one of the best views of the South Downs in the area. Most Hashers needed a few minutes contemplation to appreciate the view after what must have been the steepest of climbs in recent years. Thankfully, what goes up must come down, and the trails led us steeply downwards towards more open farm land, ancient footpaths, past the Church of St John, and back to the comforts of The Wotton Hatch. The pack then drained the pub dry of their last remaining Ales and consumed the poshest chips around, Sweet potato fries with Parmesan cheese sprinkled on top! A real delight all round.

1792	Private Parts & Pocket Rocket	@ The Station Pub, West Byfleet	28/08/2018
Our Hares tonight were two cheeky chappies, Private Parts and son Pocket Rocket, both sound dodgy, but not actually true ! We were given the usual Hash notes beforehand, and some more new signs to look out for ! Yes, Teach.....we promise to listen next time, maybe. Our route started with a check, then a false trail, and finally off alongside the Basingstoke Canal, that's more like it Boys. Tranquil, healthy and some flour but as we continued on the excellent route, the flour became rarer. We had fun, going here, there and everywhere in West Byfleet, except on the railway line phew !! Virgin Hashers with us tonight back in the UK, were Susan aka Fire Monkey, and partner Neil aka Frodo, very nice to meet you both, I think we will be seeing a lot more of you two. Also, Is It Safe, our Aussie brought his little 8 month old dog, Coco, out for her first Hash, she did well, especially with all the strangers shouting On On, all the time. I am sure her coat was brown, but Lord Tosser was adamant it was black ? Really... Dingaling and Top Man are both happy bunnies, Chelsea keep on winning, yehaa ! Great to see Mother Brown back with us, just flown in from Australia, should be here for a good few months, maybe six. The pub was good, loads of room for us, twenty in all, and huge bowls of delish chips, wolfed down of course. We had a good old natter, Spanish Mistress & Sodden Assets were beaming all night, and Naked Chef was very kindly sorting us out, with planning out the next few week's Runs. Kung Foo Panda's hip continues to heal quickly, yehaa ! Our night was excellent, and no fallers. Be here or be square next week, there are still quite a few of you happy people not back yet. Autumn is here, so come and enjoy it with your torch....On On....hey hey.

1793	Pig Pen	@ The Jack Phillips, Godalming	04/09/2018
This was some way to go for our evening's entertainment, nearly 30 miles, but was so worth it. Our Hare Pig Pen laid on a special route taking in all the highs and lows of Godalming, and they are steep! Many thanks to you Matt for stopping and waiting and guiding us all home. Early on, we went alongside the river Wey, very nice stretch of water, then left crossing the A3100 we arrived at a large lake, surrounding us with low flying bats chasing insects galore then on to Farncombe. As Sodden Assets said... 'We all got most of the checks wrong' such a clever route, weaving around and finding hidden footpaths to use. We came back towards the town over the main railway line via a footbridge, and at the top of the town, we then descended down many different stepped footpaths towards town centre level. Dingaling even saw a house up on the hill named Sequoia House, with the World's largest species of trees a mere 90 foot or more surrounding the property. Coniferous they were indeed. The challenge for many runners on arrival, was finding which one of the many Godalming car parks was nearest the pub, and it was the Crown Court car park. There were many happy faces tonight, Kebab also returning from his super holiday in Singapore, lucky boy ! The pub was more like an ocean liner, but super cheap quality Weatherspoon Ales on offer. Did you know that Jack Phillips was the heroic Wireless Operator on the Titanic, who sent the Mayday message, and saved so many lives by doing so, but in doing so, lost his for his heroic bravery. God rest his soul, he was born in Farncombe in 1887, a brave and courageous 25 year old. We were fortunate to drink in the pub named after him tonight, and no doubt we will be back. There is a Phillips Memorial Cloister at the rear of the pub, in fact the largest of all the 650 Titanic Memorials worldwide. Godalming is also home to the renowned Charterhouse school that moved from London to Godalming in 1872. So here's to our next adventure, next week, be there !

1794 The Great Bear @ The Fox and Hounds, Englefiend Green 11/09/2018

This gorgeous upmarket gastro pub set on the top of the hill, bode well for yet another of Great Bear's quality location runs. It was a humid night, strangely with the rain threatening, but we roared off in good spirits, keen to find the trail. Flour was plentiful, and a new visitor tonight was Hannah, friend of Worzel from Aldershot way, a warm welcome to you ! Considering Rupert could not use The Savill Garden which is closed in the evening, he had to conjure up a marvellous collection of footpaths, which he linked together somehow ! It is very green round here, running beneath canopies of tall trees, became commonplace, and we were fortunate for the rain to not come, until almost the On In sign. This is a beautiful area, and secluded so street lamps are not so common, torches became our friends very quickly. Bit of glamorous showbiz gossip for you. Did you know Marilyn Monroe stayed in Englefield Green In the summer of 1956, with her husband Arthur Miller. She was here to film, The Prince and the Showgirl with Sir Laurence Olivier. She stayed in Parkside House in Wick Lane for 4 months.

Lots of Weybridge Hashers not here tonight, but Megabit, Sausage, Top Man, Naked Chef, Master Bates, Dingaling, Sodden Assets, Spanish Mistress, Kebab, Worzel, Doner & Jack, plus Mother Brown & Ard'on Provocateur joining us in the pub, we all had a great time ! Chips were served for afters, mmmmm, and Worzel dropped a hot chip down between Dingaling's legs and said ' I am not going down there !! ' then we asked him where the Run is next week, he could not remember, ho ho. Hint, it might well be in Cobham, so do not miss it ! Lord Tossler, Wasser, Pussy Galore, Is It Safe, Mrs Robinson, Legover, and Jo where are you All ??
