1590 Call Girl & Pickled Fart @ The Wych Elm, Kingston 14/10/2014

Hardy hashers were out in force tonight battering against the rain and the Kingston one way system. Keen runners amongst us were soon into Richmond park and into the watery blackness and ghostly cyclists traversing through the pack. Lost at the first check then again at the second but the pack regrouped ready to hear Rutting deer in the darkness (call girl noted that they were showing their bits earlier) antlers were clashing so a quicker run was on the cards there afterwards. We skirted around Isabella (Who has been waiting for us since the 17th century) Then we landed at Pen ponds then back around Isabella again. 5.6 miles later via shiggy in the ferns the pub was upon us once again. The elm pub provided chips and the chefs spicy specials much to the delight of Kebab and l'Agent Provocateur

1591 Spanish Mistress & Sodden Assets @ The Happy Man, Englefield Green 21/10/2014

This was a magical mystery tour, a typical Weybridge Hash adventure to endure....whoops....enjoy ! Lots of people out in the dark, slightly cold air, all trying to find the trail !! We meandered all over the shop, came to a halt, no flour.....then out of the mist like Del Boy & Rodney.....up popped Mark..aka Sodden Asses..... whoops Assets I mean, does not sound as good though, does it ? The half a Hare had flour on him, and guided us back on the hidden trail.....just as some were angling for the pub. Apparently Spanish Mistress & Sodden Assets had their original trail wiped out by falling trees.....erm yes true. Anyway, we raced round, 6.24 miles and back to the pub by 9.30pm.....rather thirsty to find a Quiz Night in progress.....yes! Anyway, we went out in the garden to get frozen again, and poor Dingaling was warmed by Spanish Mistress & Dishy Dave, to prevent hypothermia and chips did come! I was reliably informed that poor Pig Pen... Matt was sucked off by a cow!! Don't ask??? He may never recover from it! The wacky world of Weybridge Hashers.....on on.

1592 Worzel @ The Wheatsheaf, Woking 28/10/2014

Normality almost returned this week, no disappearing Hares trapped in the trees.....this week we were entertained by wily Worzel who sent us this way and that, mainly that, and then we thought we were getting lost like last week, and up he pops, with flour in hand to put a fresh trail down for all to follow. We disappeared into the famous woods, where some of the movies were shot.....War of The Worlds...HG Wells epic.....and the Martians first landed on Horsell Common....yes really ! Anyway, we had our heat ray guns on us, and we managed to zap them , and run away somehow. Phew....bit of a worry that was. Grand Master Trevor was leaping along tonight, and Hanging About, joined us again from East Grinstead way. Great to see them as usual. The Molesey Mauler and Kung Foo Panda were racing along too. No pub quiz to drown us out this week, so we had a big sprawling pub to chatter in and poor Tracy had an altercation with a tree on her run, which annoyingly moved into her path and pushed her groundwards, but she is only lightly bruised, thank goodness ! Chips were supplied to all.....yummy, and we stayed IN the pub this week, no gardens ! See ya next week....

1593 Pig Pen @ The Jack Philips, Godalming 04/11/2014

Rather on the fringes of WH3 winter territory but convenient for the hare. For all that, a solid group of loyal stalwarts managed to conglomerate, appearing from scattered directions. Those who knew where the pub was, those who ignored the No Entry sign, those who followed blind ignorance and luck, conglomerate they did. Now, who would I be to criticise the run, imitation being the sincerest form of flattery. The first leg used part of an earlier run of mine, out towards Eashing. No doubt you will all recall it as being one of the runs of the year. That bit was good. After that, having covered Aaron's Hill, it went downhill. Having passed under the railway, there was a physically uphill bit onto Holloway Hill to follow a circumnavigation through the eastern suburbs of Godalming before getting us all back to the delights of a sparkling Weatherspoons and bowl upon bowl of chips. And it stayed pretty much dry throughout. All said and done a smooth Pig Pen operation.

Well, this was a washout in the car park before we started, but eight brave souls turned up, and as you know with Weybridge Hash, the runs grow on you and by the finish we had eighteen of them, all drenched of course. We sampled the muddy delights of Nonsuch Park, Henry VIII's back garden and then into Cheam Park as well. Amidst the mud and spitting rain, there was a whole lotta screaming going on? First Spanish Mistress almost swan glided into the undergrowth, and screamed then Dingaling missed his footing, and almost got a trainer sucked off, and finally poor Rupert screamed like a cat being strangled,as only Great Bear's can !! One of the runners had his bottom pinched by Pig Pen, ...I ask you.....flirty. Our brave Hares, had to set some of this run...LIVE....because of late arrival...so well done. Emlyn was back with us again.....great to see you ! Tosser, Wazzer & Len braved the seaside weather to turn out with us, well done ! Nice pub too, we will be back for sure. A Fun night in the rain.
