Nettle Rash

@ White Hart, Addlestone

16/01/2018

Our jovial Hare Nettle Rash welcomed us to the backwaters of Addlestone and we were given a great trail, to find, shiggy aplenty, working our way alongside railway lines and the Wey Navigation canal, and Coxes Lock built in 1651. Worzel informs the large Mill pond was deliberately dug, and the crafty Mill owner, accidentally deliberately dug a trench from the parallel to the River Wey, and so he got his water power in the end. Smiling Andy performed as the Scarecrow in The Wizard of Oz recently in Chertsey, he was good according to Dingaling ! and he plays a mean guitar solo too ! Kebab played the Camel, the rear of, was hot stuff in there. Good group tonight, hurried along our 5 miler to gain the benefit of hot chips in the warm pub, and the slightly monotonous quiz that ran all night. Master Bates & Agent Provocateur nearly got thrown out for shouting the answers. We recovered our composure by scoffing Auntie Ruth's delicious banoffie pie and.....wait for it...a Victoria sponge as well. Yummy scrummy woo, thanks. Our night was a treat, full of exercise, joy, beer and food, what more could you want. Amusement was complete when Worzel piped up innocently to say, once he cycled home from here alongside the canal, but oops he fell in, and another time, he was so busy reading a map, he walked straight in, what a splash eh ? Rumour had it he was clever....jury's out now. Do not miss Haggis Run next week, message Doner, to book your ticket, right now. Delight awaits you in Claygate, with dear Cathy. On On Guys and Dolls, winter continues to rule the roost.

All Up Front

@ Oxshott Sports Club, Oxshott

23/01/2018

This has become a much anticipated Foodie run over the last 15 years or so. Cathy sure knows how to set a good run, as we were given a guided tour of all the woodland on Oxshott Heath, and then onto Esher Commons, equally enjoyable, with a few lakes too ! Tonight we were honoured to see most of the chirpy Morris family, Karen, Spanish Mistress's sister, all the way from Australia, and lovely Mum June, all the way from Twickenham, with Sam the dog woof woof ! We were also lucky to have a clear sky with no rain for once, which was a treat ! All up Front ..aka Cathy & Simon got us all round somehow, and shepherded us back on track to the Clubhouse for festivities to start...Yum yum ! Our top Chef Jeff, and two able assistants, Maire, and the guy with the stylish floppy hair catered for us all night long. The portions of Haggis, Neeps and Tatties were so large, NONE of us went up for seconds.....never happened before, ever ! Amazingly nearly all our runners were here, Lord Tossler, Wasser, Tight

Git, Pig Pen, Master Bates, Ard'on Provocateur, here to demolish the food, Top Man and Naked Chef, and all, no one went home hungry. Then our GM Doner, unveiled a tray of delectable 'Edinburgh Fog' laced with whisky to tempt us further, and she succeeded somehow with many willing Weybridge Hashers, tongues hanging out. We also had a guest appearance from a Guildford Hasher....Atalanta, who piled in to taste our grub, and enjoy our company, welcome to you ! So, we all felt fat and satisfied, a bit like Henry the Eighth, back in the day eh ? Oi, oi, yet another cracking night out, food food, glorious food ! Off to Teddington tomorrow, for this weeks's special Tossler run, so don't miss it. On On.....

Tossler

@ The Anglers, Teddington

30/01/2018

Great location for our run tonight, beside the Thames, the beating heart of London. Our elusive Hare, Lord Tossler nowhere to be seen at the off, but the flour guided us excitedly onto the bridge over the Thames, into Ham Lands, a 72 hectare Nature Reserve, which attracts lots of birds, bees and butterflies, you can see where Tossler is going with this ? Oh yes, you can ! Those scantily dressed girls on The Benny Hill Show were nowhere to be seen. What a pity eh ? We stopped and stuttered at the start, but got going in and around Ham, to the pond on the Common, then beautifully into hidden woodland beside the river, nice routes here, and past gorgeous Ham House, built in 1610 for the Knight Marshal to James the First. We continued on and wound our way back through the streets, and eventually brilliantly along the Thames, to Teddington Lock, a complex of 3 Locks and a Weir, where we crossed over to make it back to our cosy nook of a pub. Warm pub, not the beer, that was good too, and Megabit kindly brought Pork Pies from his Birthday Bash at the weekend, Colonel Knob Cheese did likewise, and brought a delish chocolate gâteau to celebrate his 36 years on this Earth too ! Three cheers to you Sir !

Then, bowls of chips arrived from the delicious lady behind the bar, and our Foodie theme extends into yet another week. Yum Yum, you are missing out bigtime, if you are not here, it's a treat. Oh, yes it is ! All the big Chiefs, and Indians were here tonight, the Food rumour got out quick, Master Bates, GM Doner, Tight Git, Pig Pen, Kung Foo Panda, Spanish Mistress and Soddan Assets, all smiling away. Dingaling tried to congratulate Tossler on a great Run, but he was having none of it, he said 'You can treat me as a God if you wish, but no compliments are allowed !! ' oh...eerr. Weybridge Hashers, at the moment, are a very lucky bunch, life is splendid.....More of the same please. On On.....

The Great Bear

@ The George, Walton on Thames

6/01/2018

A friendly Shepherd Neame pub was our meeting point for Great Bear's run on a cold dry Winter's night. Off we went to the very edge of the Thames, left along the riverbank, and back in amongst the houses, towards and then across the new Walton Bridge into Shepperton. Round the fields we went, and then eventually back towards the river and across the bridge on the other side. Skirting our way, a little towards Weybridge, our clever Hare brought us back into Walton, past what was Homebase, no more, into the town and back to the pub. Great route, a nice surprise on a cold night. Into the pub, we were welcomed by the bar staff, and then 3 friendly souls from Enerstor, who have asked us to trial their new Insoles for runners, to get our feedback. We hope to provide them with useful info. Many thanks to Nick, Jen & Andy, for giving us their valuable time and advice ! No scandal or gossip tonight, but Dingaling was pleased with himself after the sell out Panto Zorro, performed in Kingston at the weekend, quite a few runners came along to enjoy themselves ! Spanish Mistress and Soddan Assets off to France for their holidays, lucky devils ! Au revoir. We had a nice visitor tonight, Jo who hails from Mersea Island in Essex, 9 miles from Colchester. Welcome to Weybridge Hash, and see you next week, in Kingston, for our Red Dress run.....Wigs and masks optional, it should be dramatic ! On On.

Top Man & Naked Chef @ The Spring Grove, Kingston

13/01/2018

Our esteemed and highly rated Scribe - Ding a Ling was absent without leave for this run and I (WASSER) was duly pressganged into writing the report by the WH3 "heavies".

About a dozen of us, including the two hares Naked Chef and Top Man (half a point each for setting the run) gathered at the Spring Grove pub on a damp and drizzly night for this Red Dress run which was also the eve of St Valentines Day. The coinciding of these two dates is very rare and won't happen for another two hundred years, so not many of us will be around to see it. An assembly of old tarts gathered for this auspicious run dressed in their finest red dresses. Neil was wearing a particularly fetching little number (good job that Ard' on Provocateur didn't see it) and Master Bates was in a red onesy. Goodness knows which rubbish tip he found that on.

I have to admit that I'm not the most suitable person to be writing this run report as, due to the inclement weather and a painful bone in my leg, I didn't complete the whole of the course. Consequently some of what is written is based on my imagination, some on hearsay and some is complete fabrication. Anyway with these preliminaries out of the way our experienced hares took us around the famous market town of Kingston (well worth a visit for anyone who hasn't been there), along the river and back to the hostelry. Just one moan - Lord Tosser and myself mislaid the trail near to the start of the run due to our discussion of weighty matters, the nature of which I cannot divulge. This oversight was seen by the pack who did precisely f--- all to alert us to our error. Whatever has happened to the hash tradition of calling? Fortunately the run was quite well marked thereafter. This and Lord Tosser's intimate knowledge of the seamier side of Kingston enabled us to make it back to the ON ON. I didn't see the "On In" but am assured that there was one.

The Spring Grove is a very large pub which probably likes to think of itself as a gastro pub. The hash had this pub very much to ourselves which is not really surprising on such an inclement night and due to the expensive beer. There were no chips (apparently the pub couldn't provide these) but the Grand Matress (gawd bless her) provided heart shaped cookies with a glittery topping, no doubt full of e numbers and Top Man provided an exceptionally delicious chocolate cake to celebrate his birthday.
