1460 Tight Git @ The King William IV 17.4.12

An eventful evening, a goodly gathering of folk young and old appeared for this one. Good location with most of the run, on the out and on the in trail was spent up or down a steep incline. Tight Git did a splendid job, knitting difficult terrain into a workable trail for us to find, excellent work TG! We were taken across near Norbury Park , one side weaving our way down between the trees and t'other side, after crossing the A24, we entered the Box Hill Estate, and the River Mole which disappears constantly underground in the chalk hills and these holes are calledswallows, not surprisingly.

Staggering ever upwards, we encountered the mighty steep 49 steps, somehow! Unfortunately two of our number got lost, and somewhat left behind strangely, which is not like us at all. In future, a runner will stay with them at all times for the evening. The William IV offered a warm haven for those who did make it home Some welcome beers were required to soothe aching limbs, for sure!

1461 ghb @ The Chequers 24.4.12

The Checkers – what a good place for a hash. Doing his homework properly as he does, GHB had reced his run the Saturday before. Limping badly tonight from his stressed heel, he had laid the flour cunningly in the wet and mud. Hands On was checking chicken (not yet promoted to co-hare). Who were the front runners? Dunno, but the usual suspects I expect – Spanish Mistress, Mark, All Up Front, Simon, NC and Wazzer. Correction – Wazzer back with Alan, Ruth and me.

All back by 9.05. Remarkable. Exemplary. TG please note. No babes in the woods tonight. But what's this, here come two at 9.30 – A & B laughing and blaming heavy traffic for their late start!

Welcoming warm pub, fine ales and chips that tasted, well, "potato-ey". What more could we want. Sign him up again soon, NC.

1462 Butt Plug @ The Griffin 1.5.12

Seventeen jolly souls were champing at the bit for this village affair. Butt Plug has a high reputation for quality and interesting green routes and he did not disappoint here. We spent the whole evening in the woods, a whole lot of sliding going on as we sloshed around in the wet shiggy conditions. Amazing no one seemed to fall on their face downhill next to a silver birch tree, surprises there! Even our Hare Raiser Naked Chef was heard to swear ... deary me ... something along the lines of Sugar Hospital Indigo Tango was uttered very quickly, as she went off balance yet again!

Hey ho, a mucky night was soothed with the arrival of piping hot roasted potato chorizo's with onions, yes in a pub I know they were delicious said Ding a Ling. Another splendid Weybridge Special ... do come and join us this Summer ... such fun. (Did you know in 1822 the Claygate Pearmain apple was discovered in a hedge by John Braddick?)

1463 Pig Pen @ The Percy Arms 8.5.12

We set off from the strangely eerie Villagers pub car park, now the pub is closed, and off into the delightful Blackheath Common 250 acres of Heathland to run through. All you could hear was the wind in the trees and the birds saying goodnight, and us chuntering on.....and on. Pig Pen did us proud tonight, an adventurous journey through the woods, and even the latecomers, Mother Brown, Agent Provocateur, Belinda & Andrea managed to get round safely and back in the very up market pub. Pig Pen kindly staying out till the last runners were back to the trail car park....THANKYOU !

Wasser even turned, and requested to be entertained, I ask you the cheek of it ! Good to see you, your highness....local dancing girls were the order of the night! Did you know?in 1864 Queen Victoria visited the local Chilworth Gunpowder Factory for an exercise by Volunteers, and the local vicar, Rev W. Earle was accidentally shot, during the proceedings. Strange things, military exercises..... It's a lot safer to go running every week !

1464 Spanish Mistress & Mark @ The Sun 15.5.12

Firstly, anyone who did not manage to get here for this Weybridge Special, missed out big time. The Royal Parks, and in this instance The Savill Garden was spectacular, a feast on the eyes and the senses, one of Britain 's greatest ornamental gardens, created in the 1930's by Eric Savill! Blooming Rhododendrons of every colour tempted us at every turn, and as you know, is the national flower of Nepal. Visitors again tonight were Sue, Thea and Josh, plus Great Bear was back with us, always nice to see, plus a VIP visit from Golden Balls still wearing what he did last time! ermmm. Lovely chap, full of smiles.

Having recovered from the flower fest, we staggered into a quiet pub, empty of course, and the poor barmaid told Ding a Ling she is normally empty on Tuesday nights!! Well, well, there's a thing... A night to remember, from Spanish Mistress & The Carpenter from Bethlehem Mark.

Ps .....Superior Footnote : The two lovely ladies who got lost in the woods in Dorking a few weeks back arehenceforth to be known as 'The Babes in The Wood' ah...bless 'em!

THE ANNOUNCEMENT BOARD

What a cracking set of runs we have coming up over the next few weeks. There are two big events—the jewels, if you like—in the crown of runs. They are the Bank Holiday Tuesday "Right Royal Romp" and our nearly-as-auspicious AGM.

JUNE 5TH: A right royal romp

This is a 2pm start so don't roll up at 8 and wonder why everyone is already blind drunk and refusing to go out on the run.

This is a Fancy dress affair: crowns, coronets, tiaras and regalia are optional, but do bring your own table, chair, picnic rug, booze and soft drinks with suitable drinking horn. Tea and coffee will be provided.

This is also a family affair, so please bring along your other halves and kiddies. Tickets are £5.00 for adults and £2.50 for children

Please see Tight Git ASAP for tickets as we need to get an idea of numbers.

JUNE 19TH: AGM

As if one special event wasn't enough, we have our AGM this month as well. We are very thankful that Headley's Hounds will be providing their usual fine fare for us all, so expect the norm: a great run followed by the finest efforts of the BBQ King.

It's the usual venue of the Stables in Horsley

Please see Tight Git ASAP for tickets as we need to get an idea of numbers.
